

To whom it may concern

Kyrre Sundal has participated actively in the Ark:Idea student growth facility during the fall semester of 2008. Ark:Idea is a program, where architect students get tools, knowledge, network and counselling in the field of entrepreneurship. About what it means and what it takes to succeed as an entrepreneur. During the course, the students learn by doing, by transforming knowledge into active action, and the result is experience based on working with their own nascent entrepreneurial company. The program extends for 140 hours (6 ECTS).

Moreover, Kyrre has received individual coaching and counselling, and has worked intensely with realizing the company project which was at the core of his participation in Ark:Idea.

Kyrre has shown an exceptional desire to make things happen in Ark:Idea. Along with a fellow student, he has started his own company and has succeeded in realizing a number of interesting work projects, due to his efficacy, his courage and his ability to make things happen, and to activate his network in this respect. Kyrre has been of great inspiration to other students in Ark:Idea, they have profited greatly from sharing Kyrre's knowledge, experience and great involvement.
